Faculty & Staff Notes

The Guardian has just published an essay that Professor Woodrow Hartzog co-authored with Neil Richards, titled “Facebook’s new digital assistant ‘M’ will need to earn your trust.”

Professor Woodrow Hartzog was recently quoted in a story in Fusion titled “Outed Ashley Madison users want to make stolen data legally toxic.”

An article written by adjunct professor Strudwick Marvin Rogers was published in Vol. 2 of the 2015 edition of The Arkansas Law Review. The article entitled “Fieldwide Unitization and Enhanced Recovery of Oil and Gas” is the result of Rogers’ address to a symposium sponsored by the University of Arkansas Law School in 2014. Rogers serves as Assistant Attorney General and General Counsel for the Alabama Oil and Gas Board in Tuscaloosa, and teaches Oil and Gas Law at Cumberland.

Cassandra Adams was the keynote speaker for the 61st Annual Women’s Leadership Observance on Sun., September 13. Adams spoke at Dexter Avenue King Memorial Baptist Church’s morning service. Because this year is the 60th Anniversary of the Montgomery Bus Boycott and because of Dexter’s role in the movement—particularly Dexter women—Adams helped guests focus their minds on today’s civil rights issues and justice.

Cumberland School of Law's Cordell Hull Speakers Forum Proudly Presents ABA President

Paulette Brown

Thursday, September 24

11:00 a.m. - Noon

Samford University's Cumberland School of Law
John L. Carroll Moot Courtroom

Be our guest for a lively one-hour discussion on "Diversifying the Legal Profession During Difficult Times" presented by Paulette Brown, newly-instated president of the American Bar Association, and the first woman of color to serve in this role.

Brown is a partner with Locke Lord Edwards LLP in Morristown, New Jersey, where she is a member of the Labor and Employment Group and serves as co-chair of the Diversity and Inclusion Committee. She is also a mediator for the United States Court for the District of New Jersey, a former president of the National Bar Association and the Association of Black Women Attorneys of New Jersey.

The event is free and open to the public. A reception will take place at the law school following Brown's presentation.

Competitions Take Place Throughout the Fall Semester

The fall Brewer Client Counseling Competition: Sunday evening, October 11. Contact Neil Zaveri.

The Intraschool Mediation Competition will take place on Sun., October 18 from 1 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sign up by midnight on Fri., October 9. Competitors will negotiate settlement agreements while judges act as neutral mediators. Each pair or team will be evaluated on a variety of factors including professionalism, creativity, communication, strategy, and effective use of the mediator. After the two preliminary rounds, four individuals will move to the final round, and from there, winners will be chosen. To sign up, or if you have any questions, contact Landon Graham or Richard Sarrell.

Cumberland will be hosting the ABA Regional Negotiation Competition Saturday November 14 - Sunday November 15.
